

AsBAA

Asian Business Aviation Association

Welcome

The purpose of the Asian Business Aviation Association is to promote the benefits of business aviation in Asia and to support the interests of business aircraft operators and companies that support those aircraft.

- Fostering the highest degree of operational efficiency and safety
- Networking business aviation entities within and outside of Asia
- Advocating the benefits of business aviation to regulatory agencies and industry groups

The mission of the Asian Business Aviation Association is to promote the benefits of business aviation to government authorities and industry groups throughout the Asia-Pacific region.

History

Formed in 2001, with the full support of the National Business Aviation Association (NBAA) the founding members who included operators, manufacturers, suppliers and service providers, have brought together a community with different geographical positions, governing regulations, local practices and cultures, to embrace a common vision to develop business aviation. AsBAA is an active member of the International Business Aviation Council.

AsBAA welcomes new members, as it is the membership that drives the Association.

Key Goals

- To foster the highest levels of operational efficiency and safety
- To bring members into closer and cooperative relationships
- To exchange and share ideas on operational issues
- To promote better relationships with regulatory bodies and other government agencies
- To decrease or remove the obstacles that have impeded the development of business aviation in the region

Through these goals, AsBAA's mission is to advocate safety and efficiency, while promoting the acceptance of business aviation as an important business toll and a vital contributor to the economy of every Asian country.
